- e) (6)_____ the undersigned plenipotentiaries, being duly authorized by their respective Governments, have signed this Convention.
- f) The Convention is not intended to establish uniform rules for (7)_____ contractual issues that are not specifically related to the use of electronic communications. However, a (8)_____ between technology-related and substantive issues in the context of electronic commerce is not always feasible or desirable. Therefore, the Convention contains a few substantive rules that extend beyond merely reaffirming the principle of functional equivalence where substantive rules are needed in order to ensure the effectiveness of electronic communications.
- g) (9)_____ of the parties and information requirements (articles 6 and 7)
- h) The Convention does not (10)_____ a duty for the parties to disclose their places of business, but establishes a certain number of presumptions and default rules aimed at facilitating a determination of a party's location. It attributes primary - (11)_____ not absolute - importance to a party's indication of its relevant place of business.
- i) The possibility of excluding this expanded application of the Convention has been added to take into account possible concerns of States that may wish to (12)_____ first whether the Convention would be compatible with their existing international obligations.
